Auburn University Housing offers on-campus housing accommodations for undergraduate students in five residential communities consisting of a total of 32 residence halls. The University does not offer on-campus housing accommodations for graduate students. All residence halls are air-conditioned and are equipped with Wi-Fi. The halls are within walking distance to classes, dining, recreational areas, laundry facilities, mailrooms and the library.

Residence halls in the Hill and Quad communities are suite style: two students share a room that is connected by a bathroom to another room shared by two students. There are a limited number of single rooms available. In Cambridge, two students share a room and have a private bathroom attached to that room. There are a limited number of single rooms available. The Village Community residence halls are primarily configured in four bedroom, two bath units: four students each have their own bedroom and share a bathroom with the roommate on their side of the suite. The Village also features a kitchenette and common space shared by all four students. There are a limited number of three bedroom and two bedroom, one bath units as well. South Donahue Hall which features two single bedroom, two bath units that share a common area and kitchenette. South Donahue has a very limited number of four single bedroom, two bath units. For more details, including rental rates, please visit the Housing website at www.auburn.edu/housing. Housing for students with disabilities is available in all residential areas.

Auburn University Housing hosts several special interest communities across campus. Auburn Global students live with our domestic residence in two of our buildings in the Hill. Honors College members can request to live with other members in Honors Collage halls in the Quad and Village. Residential Learning Communities based off of similar interests or academics are located in the Quad. Panhellenic sororities on campus can live on their sorority specific hall located in the Village. For more details on these Special Interest Communities, floor plans, rental rates, and amenities, please visit the Communities tab on the Housing website at www.auburn.edu/housing.

Each residence hall is staffed by undergraduate student, graduate student, and professional staff members who oversee the daily operations of the residence hall and foster communities that are engaging, supportive and inclusive. Undergraduate Resident Assistants (RAs) provide social and educational programs for residents that are designed to engage students, advance learning, encourage leadership, and prepare students for future success. RAs are directly supervised by our Graduate Area Coordinators (GACs). In addition, residents may participate in social programs provided by professional staff members or our department as a whole. Residence Life staff also ensure resident compliance with any department, university, and community rules and regulations. All hall staff members are trained and supervised by full-time Residence Life professional staff members.

Admission to Auburn University does not automatically include a room reservation, and first-year students are not guaranteed housing. Students may apply for housing after they are accepted to the University and have submitted the $200 confirmation deposit to Admissions. Priority for housing requests is generally based upon the date the application is received. A $50 non-refundable application fee and a $250 refundable pre-payment are required with the housing application.

Telephone: (334) 844-4580.
Website: www.auburn.edu/housing.

Off-Campus Housing
Auburn University has partnered with Off Campus Partners to provide off-campus housing resources. Students can go to auburn.offcampuspartners.com to browse and view apartments, condos, townhouses and homes that are available to rent in the greater Auburn-Opelika community. Users can also use the off-campus housing site to find a roommate, ride share or buy and sell furniture and textbooks.

Website: http://offcampushousing.auburn.edu/.