Health Promotion & Wellness Services

Health Promotion & Wellness Services (HPWS) provides prevention and educational programming and other healthy initiatives to enhance the well-being of Auburn students and the Auburn University campus community. Using research and assessment as a foundation, Health Promotion and Wellness Services utilizes peer outreach, workshops, intervention services, and trainings to reach individuals, student groups and the campus community.

HPWS offers individual substance use intervention services through the TESI and SUIT program. The office provides medical nutrition therapy, serves on the eating disorder treatment team and provides nutrition outreach. Sexual assault and interpersonal violence have no place on a college campus. HPWS offers support and advocacy for survivors of these types of incidents and hopes to prevent future incidents of violence through We.Auburn, the university's green dot bystander intervention program. Additionally, HPWS offers a variety of peer health initiatives to promote student engagement. These include the Be Well Hut, Wellness Coaching, and the Dream Team.

Along with promoting and encouraging physical health, Recreation and Wellness provides prevention and wellness education programs to enhance the well-being of Auburn students and the Auburn University campus community.
