University Undergraduate Advising Services

Auburn University strives to provide clear and supportive academic advising to all undergraduates throughout their academic career. In addition, Auburn provides ongoing assessment of the quality of academic advising and provides professional development opportunities throughout the year to ensure that the university’s academic advisors are fully equipped to meet our students’ needs. Auburn advisors frequently receive regional and national awards from NACADA, the professional academic advising association, for the outstanding quality of their work. Students are strongly encouraged to take advantage of the advising services listed below.

Exploratory Advising Center

Opening in fall 2015, the Exploratory Advising Center will provide intensive academic advising and career counseling to incoming freshmen who are still in the process of determining the college or school in which they wish to major. Exploratory students will meet frequently with their advisor and career counselor, will be enrolled in a learning community structured to help them learn about the range of options Auburn provides, and will participate in activities designed to help them find the right major for them. The Exploratory (EXPL) program is open only to first-time freshmen, and by the end of the student’s second semester at Auburn, he or she will need to select a college or school in which to continue their students. The EXPL program does not replace the undeclared options provided by the Colleges of Engineering, Liberal Arts, or Sciences and Mathematics.
